

We provide Environmental Product Declarations (EPDs) for

- Manufacturers
- Suppliers
- Contractors
- Developers
- Designers

EPDs provide a standardised way to communicate the environmental impact of your product, which is then third-party verified to an international standard, but what are the business benefits of EPDs?

Mainer Associates

EPD benefits:

- Gain Competitive Advantage
- Benchmark your Product
- Implement a Green Marketing Strategy
- Become a Preferred Supplier
- Enhance Supply Chain Management
- Comply with Regulation and Legal Requirements

However, considering your products full value chain, from material extraction to manufactured product, its usage stage and end of life can seem daunting, so let Mainer Associates handle the whole process for you.

We will:

- Collect your data
- Conduct a Life-cycle assessment
- Prepare a background report for EPD
- Ensure your EPD is independently verified by a 3rd Party
- Submit your EPD document for publication into the public domain

We use pre-verified One Click LCA software to create EPDs quickly but without compromising on quality.

Most importantly our LCA models, calculations and data are independently verified by a 3rd party, meaning your EPD is recognised by international standard schemes, such as ISO 14025.

Without third-party verification, your EPD will not be recognised by many certification schemes, regulations and procurement requirements.
